Here's Summary

of Gov. Cherry's

Tax Amendment

The people of Arkansas yesterday got a good look at Governor Francis Cherry's proposed constitutional amendment to revise the tax structure at all levels.

In general, the governor's plan follows the recommendations of the voluntary Joint Tax Revision Committee November 29. Basically these recommendations were, that the state should get out of the real property tax business, property should be classified and assessed uniformly at the local level, and constitutional limitations should again be fixed on the maximum millage the citizens might levy.

Cherry's amendment proposes:

1. No property tax shall be levied by the state.

2. All property would be assessed locally at 100 per cent of the market value.

3. Constitutional millage limits would be set as follows: For school districts 12 mills; cities 8 mills; and counties 5 mills.

4. Allowance will be made for retirement of bonds to which prior commitments have been made on millage.

5. Taxing of intangible personal property, livestock, growing timber, and other natural resources would be handled at the state level.

6. A state review board, or Board of Equalization, would be set up with three members having six-year staggered terms. They would review all assessment work at the local level, ordering it to be redone when necessary to maintain uniform assessing practices throughout the state.

7. Advance budgets would be required of cities, counties, and school districts before submission of the tax rate proposed to be levied.

As outlined by Governor Cherry yesterday the passage of the amendment would cause the tax rate to drop simultaneously with the rise in assessed valuations. And the schedule of constitutional deadlines for millage increases allows the people wide latitude in voting taxes for the future — up to 2½ times the revenue now being derived from the state-wide average of 32 mills at an assessment level of 15 to 20 per cent.

The governor was careful to point out that city, county, and school officials had a prior look at the proposed amendment and found its terms satisfactory. My recollection is that the same groups were pretty widely consulted during the Joint Tax Revision Committee deliberations last November.

Furthermore, the people should be advised that the new proposal for Arkansas is not really new at all; it represents the general practice in tax matters among many of the state governments — our particular model being the Iowa Local Budget Law. Arkansas' basic tax laws date back a couple of generations and should be revised to meet modern conditions — and that's what Cherry's constitutional amendment proposes to do.

Three Injured in Separate Accidents

Three highway accidents, all on No. 53 between Gurdon and the junction of Highway 24, were investigated by State Policeman Guy Downing and Clark County sheriff yesterday.

Clayton Clark, Negro, was arrested and jailed at Arkadelphia when the auto which he was driving struck down a 12-year-old student, Lorette Kays, as she got off a school bus driven by Link Pigg of Wheeler Springs. Clark was charged with failure to stop for a school bus. Sheriff Arnold and a deputy of Clark assisted in the investigation.

Yesterday morning an auto driven by Louis Gulley of Chidester went out of control, skidded into a railing on the Little Missouri River bridge. The driver received head lacerations. The auto was badly damaged.

About mid-morning yesterday an auto driven by Mrs. Fannie Gilham of Shreveport side-swiped on a narrow bridge in the same area and overturned several times. Mrs. Frances Parker, riding in the car, suffered a broken foot. The car was demolished.

Cherry Suffers First Setback on Road Issue

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas senators handed Gov. Cherry his first legislative defeat today by refusing to give up their power to keep roads on the state highway system.

The action came after a heated debate in which a Pine Bluff Senator charged that the means used to beat the measure were "underhanded."

Under the present law the highway commission may add roads to the highway system but only the legislature may remove them.

Sen. Ellis Fagan, who led the fight for the proposal, said he sponsored it for Gov. Cherry.

The fight on the bill, which was defeated nine for and 21 against, began when Sen. Guy H. Jones of Conway attempted to amend it to exempt his senatorial district.

"The people of my district don't want to be put under this bill," said Jones, who held the floor long Continued on Page Two

Weinberg Once a Red, Attorney Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U. S. attorney told a federal jury today Dr. Joseph W. Weinberg once was a member of "very secret and extremely important" Communist Party unit at Berkeley, Calif.

William Hitz, the assistant U. S. attorney prosecuting Weinberg on perjury charges, said the government will prove the atomic scientist lied three times in testimony before the House Un-American Activities Committee in May, 1949.

One charge is that the slim, bespectacled scientist, swore falsely when he said he had not been a member of the Communist Party. Congressional investigators once referred to Weinberg as "scientist X" during a probe of atomic spying.

Joseph A. Fanciulli, one of Weinberg's attorneys, said that the defense will call witnesses, including a distinguished scientist and a great American" to deny Weinberg attended Communist meetings alleged by the government.

On Feb. 7, the investigators reported, Byler was intoxicated and started a scrap in a Bradford, Ark. cafe.

Parole investigators took Byler to prison last Friday.

State Parole Director W. P. Ball said Byler was clinically furloughed because his mother was ill.

Arkansas Briefs

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — Arkansas' April draft call is for 722 men, and most of them will come from the 19-year old group, while draft officials said today.

Mr. Carl Wells, head of the Arkansas draft system's manpower unit, said the April draft call would be filled almost 100 per cent with 19-year olds.

Wells said 940 potential draftees will be ordered to report for screening and physical examinations to fill the April quota.

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — Mrs. Mae Clements, 48, was free of a murder charge today after telling a jury she "got tired of being whipped and beaten" and shot her husband.

Circuit Judge Harry Robinson directed a verdict for acquittal after Mrs. Clements went on trial yesterday for the shotgun slaying of Ben Clements last Sept. 6.

State witnesses testified they saw Clements beat his wife on several occasions.

JONESBORO (UP) — Vernon T. James, 21, Peach Orchard, will go on trial here in May charged with the $35,000 robbery of the bank of Reyno last Dec. 23.

James pleaded innocent when arraigned before Federal Judge Thomas C. Trimble yesterday. Carl Hamlin, Jr., who implicated James, pleaded guilty to the charge.

Judge Trimble ordered Hamlin and James to jail, Hamlin to await sentencing and James to be tried at the May term of court.

STUTTGART (UP) — Marilyn Jean Brewer, 14, was awarded the Red Cross merit certificate here today for saving the life of an 11-year old girl last Aug. 17.

The certificate was presented by Garland Rhodes, water safety chairman of the local Red Cross chapter.

Marilyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Brewer, rescued Velma Jean Pope, 11, of Texarkana, when the younger girl was drowning in a river in Oklahoma.

Allied Raiders Cut Bloody Path in Red Lines

By ROBERT UDICK
SEOUL, Korea (UP) — American tank-supported infantry attacked a Communist mountain fortress on the Western front today and cut a bloody path through the Chinese Reds with flame throwers, dynamite and hand grenades.

The Americans weathered a hail of machine-gun fire and hand grenades as they struggled through ankle-deep sand up the steep, 70-degree slopes of the Red hill southeast of Panmunjom.

United Press Correspondent Al Kaff reported from the front that U. S. flame throwers "turned the Chinese into pillars of fire before they could utter a scream."

For one hour the raiding party dropped hand grenades and dynamite charges into the deep defense tunnels and shot searing flame into the bunkers and along the trenches.

The raid began shortly after dawn, supported by fire from Allied tanks, howitzers and eight-inch guns. As they worked their way up the hill, the infantrymen Continued on Page Three

Former Tax Official Indicted

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Internal Revenue Commissioner Joseph D. Nunan Jr., already charged with income tax evasion has been indicted a second time by a federal grand jury — this time on charges of perjury.

The rackets grand jury on its final day yesterday in Brooklyn handed up a five-count indictment charging the 54-year-old Nunan lied about his finances in statements to the jury and federal tax investigators.

Nunan was indicted by the same jury last Dec. 2 on charges of cheating the government of $9,000 in income taxes between 1949 and 1950, during part of which time he was the nation's No. 1 collector.

Divorce Law Takes Time of Legislature

By RAY STEPHENS

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Divorce laws continued to take a large share of the Arkansas General Assembly's time.

The House yesterday passed another divorce measure and the Senate rejected one.

Only two senators voted for Rep. Roy Clinton's bill which would make it easier for out-of-state persons to get a divorce in Arkansas.

The final vote on the bill which supporters plan to bring up again was two for, 23 against and 10 abstaining or absent.

The House passed second bill calling for a "cooling off" period in divorce actions. One such bill

Sound Military Maxim Is a Soldier Should Never Take Orders From a Paperhanger

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — The life of crusty old Field Marshal Kark Rudolf Gerd von Rundstedt provided any future German army with a sound military maxim:

"A good soldier should never take orders from a paperhanger."

Obscurely dead now at 77, Von Rundstedt must have often mused wistfully the last few years how much better the world would have been if he had shot Adolf Hitler dead the first time he saw him.

For it was the sad fate of the field marshal, one of the great warriors of this warlike century, to build a fine military machine — only to see it gambled away by a fanatic playing a foolish chess game of power with millions of lives.

Von Rundstedt was a Prussian military genius whose tragedy was his blind obedience to the ranting Nazi Party chieftain whom he found personally disastrous and whose ideals repelled him.

Three times he quit Hitler's command in strong disagreement with his policies — in 1938, 1941, in 1944. But he could not bring himself to plot against the wild man he felt in his heart was destroying Germany. Each time he came back to lead another Hitler lost.

Von Rundstedt knew it was hopeless.

One month of grinding winter battle later, the German power in the West had been shattered. He went to his grave a lonely, embittered man, and it he could echo down a bit of professional military advice today from the Battle of the Bulge.

Von Rundstedt knew it was hopeless. He had performed brilliant

The 80-nation committee was due to resume its meetings in the General Assembly's seventh session, which were recessed last December to give President Eisenhower's new administration time to map its world policies.

PIN-WORMS

A FAMILY AFFAIR

Introducing house-pickling with a family of pin-worms! The Warmers, very fond of their medical interests say that not only every third person in the U.S. has pin-worms, but that they must not only be killed, but treated in the same intensive where the adults and multiply, have extremely what they do to the body. They do not know how they do it, but they do it. The best way to get rid of the pin-worms is to take the bowels before they lay eggs. Then lay a sufficient number of them to kill the pin-worms.

overran two lines of trenches encircling the crest.

Then they reached the top and ran head-on into an estimated 160 Reds defending the position. A choking Allied smoke screen covered the fight and hid the hill from Communist mortars to the rear. The Communists employed their usual defense tactics.

"Just as soon as we shot a goony," one man told Raff, "another would take his place. They popped up from the trenches like a jack in the box."

While the majority of the Allied troops assaulted the hill, a second force formed a semi-circle around its base, cutting off Red reinforcement routes.

An hour later, the U. S. fighters withdrew just as suddenly as they had attacked. A Communist mortar barrage followed them back to their own lines.

3. The armed services will cut their quota of doctors to be brought into uniform in the first three months of this year from 1,800 to 1,200 because of the shortage of physicians in civilian practice.

The chief executive devoted most of his 30-minute conference with 203 reporters and photographers to answering questions.

He counseled Congress to go slow on changing the wording of the resolution through which he wants this government to repudiate any interpretation of wartime secret agreements which led to or at least necessitated in the enslavement of certain nations.

He also expressed flat opposition to any suggestion that the investigative power of Congress be limited. At the same time, however, he said Congress should exercise this investigative authority only after extensive consideration and with the self-restraint that is necessary for the protection of basic American liberties.

Revolutionized Cookery

The introduction of the table fork revolutionized the whole world of cookery. In medieval England, a mortar and pestle were the two most important cooking utensils, since foods were beaten into a powder to prepare them for easy eating with the fingers.

Economic Reports Is Important

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, D.C.—In the first full year of 1946, when it was still a question whether the country would be prosperous or so falling into a depression, Congress passed a law which said two things:

"The government—with the help of farmers, industry, labor, cities and states—should try to come up with plans 'under which there will be afforded useful employment opportunities."

This has sometimes been called the "Full Employment Act of 1946." It not only didn't say the government had any responsibility for achieving and maintaining full employment. It never mentioned full employment.

But how was ex-President Truman going to make such a report? Not being an economic him-self, it was obvious he'd need help. The question was: Who'd help him?

He could hire a good economist as his chief adviser. The economist could call on various sources, private and governmental, for information on which to base his conclusions and recommendations.

Or the President could let the main government officials dealing with economic problems tell him what they thought. For instance, the budget director and the secretary of commerce, labor and the treasury.

Or again, as both hazardous and confusing, each of those men might read the signs and economic charts differently, and therefore arrive at different conclusions on what was happening and what was needed.

Or Truman might try to set up a committee made up of those main government officials and let them put their heads together and agree on the kind of economic report Truman should submit to Congress.

The President could have a panel of professional economists completely separate from all other government agencies and their staffs, who could survey the whole scene with some detachment and report to him.

Congress decided the last method would be best, so in that same unemployment act of 1946 it said the President should have a three-man Council of Economic Advisors, drawing $15,000 a year, helped by a staff.

From then on until he stopped

Victory HD Club Meets In Hooks Home

The Victory Home Demonstration Club met Friday afternoon at 2:30 in the home of Mrs. Johnny Hooks with Mrs. Joe Martin and Mrs. J. T. McLean co-hostesses.

A variety of spring flowers in colorful arrangements decorated the rooms.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Roy Loomis, and an impressive devotional was given by Mrs. Vernon Fore.

The minutes were read and a financial statement was given by Mrs. Burke Shelton.

Mrs. Madge Burgess gave an informative talk on covering buttons and belt-making.

out of office Jan. 20. Truman had a Council of Economic Advisors. But the Republicans weren't very enthusiastic about the council, or, rather, some of the people on the council.

The first chairman, Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, resigned after two years largely in protest against what he called use of the council to promote the Truman administration's economic programs in Congress and elsewhere.

He was succeeded by economist Louis Keyserling, who came here in the New Deal days and testified before Congress in behalf of Truman programs. If Keyserling didn't see pretty much eye to eye with him, Truman probably wouldn't have kept him.

Keyserling and the other two council members, being Truman appointees, resigned when President Eisenhower took over. And the council staff got dismissed likewise. Then came a makeup.

At first, it was believed Eisenhower was going to abandon the three-man council idea altogether and just hire one economist to help him on the plans and recommendations which have to be made in Congress.

But yesterday Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams told it was known that: "While the President has not yet been able to complete his plans and staffing for the agency and council, he believes it highly important that the agency be kept."

So, apparently, Eisenhower will pick a new three-man council.

These members in turn may not delight the Democrats. Truman would not have hired or kept economists too far from his own thinking.

And Eisenhower, or for that matter any other president, isn't likely to pick advisers who differ much from his views.
